

Aviation in World War I Quiz

1. What kind of aircraft were represented by aviation during World War I?

- Only airplanes
- Only airplanes and dirigibles
- Airships, airships, and balloons

2. This airplane, which participated in World War I, was designed by Ignatz Etrich after reading the work of the botanist Friedrich Alborne on the stability of airplanes.

- Vickers Vimy
- Etrich Taube
- Sopwith Camel Scout

3. Which state was the first country to separate its air force into a separate branch of the military not under the control of the army or navy?

- Russia
- Germany
- Great Britain
- France

4. How was air combat fought at the beginning of World War I?

- With personal weapons or by ramming
- With specialized aerial bombs
- With machine gun aircraft
- All answers are correct

5. The ram was first used on September 8, 1914. Who among the pilots of World War I carried it out?

- Alexander Alexandrovich Kazakov
- Pyotr Nikolaevich Nesterov
- Ernst Karlovich Meidel

6. Were airships used during World War I for bombing?

- Yes
- No

7. Is it true that during World War I German balloons equipped with a camera to take pictures of distant objects?

- Yes
- No

8. The date from which the development of Russia's territorial Air Defense Forces begins.

- December 8, 1914
- December 15, 1916
- April 15, 1917

9. Which aircraft carried out the bombardment of Paris on March 20, 1915?

- Aerostats
- Planes
- Blimps

10. In what year did Turkey begin to develop combat aviation?

- In 1901
- In 1909
- In 1914
- In 1917

11. Which country had the largest air fleet in the world at the beginning of World War I?

- Russian Empire
- Great Britain
- Germany

12. What was the motto of the Royal British Flying Corps?

- "Only the stars are higher than us"
- "Soaring above the sky"

"Through Adversity to the Stars"

13. On the eve of World War I, this country's air force included 10 observation balloons, 39 planes and 85 pilots. This is ...

- France
- Germany
- Austria-Hungary
- Turkey

14. The Russian Lebed XII is ...

- the fastest bomber
- the first aircraft in the world to carry a machine gun that fired through a propeller
- a reconnaissance plane and the world's first ground attack aircraft

15. For what purpose were monocoque fuselage designs introduced in the 1910s?

- In order to reduce air resistance
- In order to allow machine guns to be installed
- In order to reduce aircraft weight

Aviation in World War I Quiz

Right answers

1. What kind of aircraft were represented by aviation during World War I?
Airships, airships, and balloons
2. This airplane, which participated in World War I, was designed by Ignatz Etrich after reading the work of the botanist Friedrich Alborne on the stability of airplanes.
Etrich Taube
3. Which state was the first country to separate its air force into a separate branch of the military not under the control of the army or navy?
Great Britain
4. How was air combat fought at the beginning of World War I?
With personal weapons or by ramming
5. The ram was first used on September 8, 1914. Who among the pilots of World War I carried it out?
Pyotr Nikolaevich Nesterov
6. Were airships used during World War I for bombing?
Yes
7. Is it true that during World War I German balloons equipped with a camera to take pictures of distant objects?
Yes
8. The date from which the development of Russia's territorial Air Defense Forces begins.
December 8, 1914
9. Which aircraft carried out the bombardment of Paris on March 20, 1915?
Blimps
10. In what year did Turkey begin to develop combat aviation?
In 1909
11. Which country had the largest air fleet in the world at the beginning of World War I?
Russian Empire
12. What was the motto of the Royal British Flying Corps?
"Through Adversity to the Stars"
13. On the eve of World War I, this country's air force included 10 observation balloons, 39 planes and 85 pilots. This is ...
Austria-Hungary
14. The Russian Lebed XII is ...
a reconnaissance plane and the world's first ground attack aircraft
15. For what purpose were monocoque fuselage designs introduced in the 1910s?
In order to reduce air resistance