

Stout Quiz: questions and answers

1. What is stout?

- A non-alcoholic beer
- A dark beer
- A light white beer

2. Which one is the most common variation of stout?

- Red stout
- Dry stout
- Light blue stout

3. Which one is the world's best selling stout?

- Queen's Draught
- Boss Draught
- Guinness Draught

4. When was the name porter used for the first time to describe a dark brown beer?

- 1735
- 1721
- 1730

5. Where was porter beer developed?

- Czech Republic
- Germany

England

6. When was porter beer developed?

1720

1860

1850

7. When did porter beer gain its customary black color?

18th century

17th century

19th century

8. Who was writing about stouts and porters in the 1970s?

William Fogg

James Elsewarth

Michael Jackson

9. Which beer was given to nursing mothers?

Blue stout

Milk stout

Hard stout

10. Which beer has a high alcohol content (even over 10% abv)?

Milk stout

Baltic porter

Hunter stout

Stout Quiz: questions and answers

Right answers

1. What is stout?

A dark beer

2. Which one is the most common variation of stout?

Dry stout

3. Which one is the world's best selling stout?

Guinness Draught

4. When was the name porter used for the first time to describe a dark brown beer?

1721

5. Where was porter beer developed?

England

6. When was porter beer developed?

1720

7. When did porter beer gain its customary black color?

19th century

8. Who was writing about stouts and porters in the 1970s?

Michael Jackson

9. Which beer was given to nursing mothers?

Milk stout

10. Which beer has a high alcohol content (even over 10% abv)?

Baltic porter