

Winter Quiz: questions and answers

1. Where does winter never occur?

- Temperate Zone
- Polar Zone
- Tropical Zone

2. The state of reduced metabolic activity shown by many animals in winter is known as:

- Rest
- Migration
- Hibernation

3. First calendar day of winter in many European countries is celebrated as:

- Christmas Day
- St. Patrick's Day
- St. Martin's Day

4. Photokeratitis caused by exposure to sunlight reflected from ice and snow, particularly at elevation is:

- Snow Vision
- Snow Blindness
- Snow Bite

5. Where is Rastrelli's Winter Palace located?

- London
- Boston

St. Petersburg

6. Frostbite, which is damage due to excessive cold has the first stage known as:

Frostbite

Frostgo

Frostnip

7. In which year did the UK receive one of it's coldest winters in the 1730s?

1739

1733

1735

8. The Ptarmigan is a bird that changes to which color in winters?

White

Blue

Pink

9. Why it is less snowing when the temperature is excessively cold?

Snow needs heat to melt and fall

There is less moisture in the air

Snow falls when it is very hot

10. Shortest Day and Longest Night of the year is known as:

Winter Caple

Begin Winter

Winter solstice

Winter Quiz: questions and answers

Right answers

1. Where does winter never occur?

Tropical Zone

2. The state of reduced metabolic activity shown by many animals in winter is known as:

Hibernation

3. First calendar day of winter in many European countries is celebrated as:

St. Martin's Day

4. Photokeratitis caused by exposure to sunlight reflected from ice and snow, particularly at elevation is:

Snow Blindness

5. Where is Rastrelli's Winter Palace located?

St. Petersburg

6. Frostbite, which is damage due to excessive cold has the first stage known as:

Frostnip

7. In which year did the UK receive one of its coldest winters in the 1730s?

1739

8. The Ptarmigan is a bird that changes to which color in winters?

White

9. Why is there less snowing when the temperature is excessively cold?

There is less moisture in the air

10. Shortest Day and Longest Night of the year is known as:

Winter solstice