

The Animal Quiz: Who Lives in the Forest

1. This forest animal is active at night. Protecting itself from the enemy, it can curl up into a ball. It is said of it "spiny side".

- Australian echidna
- Hedgehog
- Porcupine

2. This animal is very large and seems clumsy. But in fact, it can run fast, almost silently, climb trees and swim perfectly.

- Brown bear
- Hippopotamus

Capybara

3. This predator with very valuable fur is an enemy of squirrels because it leads a nocturnal lifestyle and can come up and grab a sleeping animal while a squirrel is sleeping in its nest.

- Fox
- Marten
- Lynx

4. A bird of prey popularly called the "forest cat."

- Cuckoo
- Owl
- Pincushion

5. Which bird sings best in the woods?

- Woodpecker
- starling
- Song thrush

6. This bird is able to move deftly up and down the trunk of trees.

- Creeper
- jay
- Cuckoo

7. The larva of this insect lives in the bark of a tree and gnaws winding passages in it, thus causing damage to trees.

- Bark beetle
- The woodsman beetle
- The racehorse beetle

8. This animal loves to bathe in a muddy puddle, but not because he's dirty. It's just how he gets rid of the insects that have settled in his bristles, and also to escape the heat.

- Bear
- Boar

Moose

9. This forest bird never builds its own nest or incubates its chicks because it skillfully lays its eggs in other birds' nests.

Cuckoo

Owl

Jay

10. This predatory beetle gets its name from the fact that it can run very fast.

The jumping beetle

The racehorse beetle

The stag beetle

The Animal Quiz: Who Lives in the Forest

Right answers

1. This forest animal is active at night. Protecting itself from the enemy, it can curl up into a ball. It is said of it "spiny side".

Hedgehog

2. This animal is very large and seems clumsy. But in fact, it can run fast, almost silently, climb trees and swim perfectly.

Brown bear

3. This predator with very valuable fur is an enemy of squirrels because it leads a nocturnal lifestyle and can come up and grab a sleeping animal while a squirrel is sleeping in its nest.

Marten

4. A bird of prey popularly called the "forest cat."

Owl

5. Which bird sings best in the woods?

Song thrush

6. This bird is able to move deftly up and down the trunk of trees.

Creeper

7. The larva of this insect lives in the bark of a tree and gnaws winding passages in it, thus causing damage to trees.

Bark beetle

8. This animal loves to bathe in a muddy puddle, but not because he's dirty. It's just how he gets rid of the insects that have settled in his bristles, and also to escape the heat.

Boar

9. This forest bird never builds its own nest or incubates its chicks because it skillfully lays its eggs in other birds' nests.

Cuckoo

10. This predatory beetle gets its name from the fact that it can run very fast.

The racehorse beetle